Description

Our new RPET fabric wristband is an eco-friendly wristband with RFID card. Made of durable RPET polyester material, which provides stretch resistance. There are two choices for bamboo toggles. The first locks in once tightened and has to be cut off with scissors after. The second allows for the toggle to be crimped with the included handheld tool to hold the band securely onto the wrist. The RFID cards have the fabric threaded through slots to minimize the chance of getting lost. Complete with sublimation to highlight your design. These wristbands are often used at festivals, sporting events, or other large events where there is a need to identify people.
